HALTS GAME BETWEEN FRANKLIN AND TIGER NINES

The game postponed the opening of the baseball season here Tuesday as Franklin was prevented from its date with DePauw in a scheduled ball game. No date has yet been set between the two schools for the postponed contest, but relations are now under way for a game here with Franklin.

This is the second game of the year which is to be played here that rain interfered with. The Wabash game, carried for Friday afternoon on Green Field, is the next on the Old schedule. This will be the second contest of the year for the Tiger and also the second with Wabash. Coach Conklin and his men are confident over the dope for Friday and declare they will throw a reversal of last week's win over Wabash. Capt. Julien will probably do the hurrying for the Tiger combination. The remainder of the line-up is also about the same, with Isenbarger, Tuhey,
Wright and Bastian in the infield, and B. Guild, M. Guild and Davis in the outfield.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The high school students and teachers expressed much regret because of the death of Mrs. J. W. O'Danils, wife of William O'Danils, a junior member of the high school. Although O'Danils had resided in Greencastle only a short time, her death was a great loss to the community.
She was a member of the 1918
net ball squad.

The student council of the school is completing the arrangements for the "house" entertainment which will be held in the school building this night. This night a play will be given in the auditorium, games will be held in the gymnasium, stunts will be given and refreshment booths will decorate the hallways. The fun will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

THE TELEPHONE—NO. 65

APRIL 15 IS HERE; HAVE YOU A LICENSE?

April 15, the dead line set by Mayor Bartley as the closed season on 1918 automobile licenses, is here. Have you your 1919 auto license, or is your car still adorned with a 1918 number?

It seems that many have not yet secured their licenses for 1919. Ed.
Harris, Elmer Crawley and Ed. Hamilton a few days ago, while standing in front of the Hamilton store, took a survey of passing cars. In five minutes they counted seven cars with 1918 licenses; three cars without any license at all and two machines which had only one number plate of 1919 license. In these two instances an owner was using one set of license plates on two cars. He had one plate on one car and the other on another.
During the five minutes there were only a few cars passed which had 1919 licenses.

Mayor Bartley has stated that after April 15 all persons who have not yet secured licenses will be fined $11. He may give you a few days of grace, but it probably will not do to take too much advantage of "Sir Rupert."

CRACK MARKSMAN HITS TREE WITH HIS FORD

Eastman is his name and he is a traveling salesman for a large fire arms and ammunition firm. His prowess as a marksman is well established through not only Indiana but the entire country. At many of the important shooting matches East-man's name is to be found among the shooters.

The ability of Mr. Eastman to hit the mark was demonstrated here on Tuesday night when he attempted to turn his Ford on Jackson street at the Commercial Hotel. Eastman did not turn quite quick enough, for crash!
the Ford hit a tree.

Eastman took the crippled machine to the Ford hospital, where its injuries were treated and early this morning he started on his way to Brazil.

BISHOP F. J. McCONNELL OF DENVER, TO PREACH HERE

Bishop F. J. McConnell, of Denver, formerly president of DePauw University, will deliver an address at the regular university services to be held in Meharry Hall at 3:15 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. On the following Monday evening Bishop McConnell will give the first of three lectures in Meharry Hall. The lectures will be given by Bishop McConnell on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

BRAZIL BAND TO GIVE CONCERTS

Brazil, April 16.—The Brazil Civic Club, following a meeting of the executive committee held last night, announces that weekly band concerts will be given every Wednesday night
during the coming summer season.

The first concert will be given Wednesday, June 12, and one concert will be given each week following for twelve consecutive weeks.

RESTRICTIONS FOR MAIL TO A. E. F. TAKEN OFF

Washington, April 14.—It is no longer necessary for members of the American expeditionary forces to secure approved requests for articles to be sent them through the mails from this country. The postoffice department announced this afternoon that at the request of the war department all parcels that do not weigh more than seven pounds may be mailed overseas without further restrictions.

YOU CAN SEND PARCELS TO SOLDIER BOYS NOW

The government restrictions on mailing packages by parcel post to members of the American army abroad have been withdrawn and now parcels of seven pounds or under may be sent at a rate of 12c a pound.

PRICES OF HOGS REACH A NEW HIGH RECORD

—April 16—

Hog prices made a new record for the Indianapolis market when a sale was made Wednesday at $21.05. The previous high mark was on September 16, 1918, when the price went to $21.00. There were 6,500 hogs in the arrivals. Sales generally were at $20.65 to $21.00. Local packers 5,000 hogs and outsiders the rest.
Prices for other live stock held unchanged. Receipts of cattle were 1-100, calves 350 and sheep 100.

Hard Colors to Harmonize

THURSDAY EVE DEPAUW NIGHT AT REVIVALS

MEETING AT COLLEGE AVENUE
LAST EVENING TO BE FEAT-URED BY EXERCISES GIVEN
BY THE SUNDAY SCHOOL PU-PILS.

THE INTEREST INCREASE

The auditorium of the College avenue Methodist church is expected to be crowded to overflowing this evening by the number of Greencastle people and college folks who desire to witness the entertainment which several hundred children of the city will give under the direction of Prof. and Mrs. V. P. Brock.

One of the outstanding features of the evangelistic services which have been held in the College avenue church during the last ten days have been the children's meetings. Prof. and Mrs. Brock have proved themselves master hands in the Bible study and other work done among the children.
Tonight the parents and friends of the children will be given the opportunity of witnessing a most interesting entertainment.

As the week progresses the interest in the revival campaign increases.
Special nights have been planned for Thursday and Friday. Tomorrow is DePauw night and those who attend

the evening service will hear a musical program rendered by a five-piece orchestra directed by Edwin Brackett, former leader of the university band.
The music will be full of genuine "pep" and will begin at 7:15. The regular service begins at 7:30.

A helpful service was held in the church last night. Rev. Kirkpatrick preached a strong sermon and Mrs.
Brock sang a gospel song.

STRANGER INVESTIGATED.

Crawfordsville, April 15.—The police last night investigated the case of an elderly man giving his name as William B. Pauley and his residence as uncertain and indefinite. Mr. Pauley had in his possession several certified checks totaling $600 and stated that he had been requested to leave his last home with his cousin near Greencastle. His checks were from Greencastle, Lebanon and Frankfort banks. The man was brought to this city from Mace and was finally lodged in a local hotel.

George Dobbs, ex-county assessor, has purchased the Reuben Arnold grocery store on North Indiana street and will devote his time to the management of the business.

Mrs. J. T. Palmer, who for several years has taken the school enumeration, this year has an additional task in connection with her work. This year Mrs. Palmer, beside getting a line on the school children, is getting a list of all soldiers and militiamen in Greencastle. As she is required to visit every home in her enumeration work, she easily can "kill two birds with one stone."

RALPH KNOLL HOME ROBBED

BURGLARS ENTER RESIDENCE OF COUNTY AUDITOR-ELECT
AND SECURE ABOUT $16 IN MONEY AND SILVERWARE —
NO CLEW TO IDENTITY OF ROBBERS.

ENTER THROUGH WINDOW

Robbers gained entrance to the residence of Ralph Knoll on South Locust street some time Tuesday night and robbed the home of $16 in money and a lot of silverware. Mr.
and Mrs. Knoll did not discover the robbery until Wednesday morning.
Mrs. Knoll on going down stairs that morning discovered that all the window blinds in the downstairs part of the house had been lowered.

This aroused her curiosity a little,
but not until she started to get breakfast and discovered that her table silver was gone did she realize that the home had been robbed. Her purse, containing about $16, also was taken.
Only a few weeks ago the Charley Leuteke home near by was robbed.

The Mrs. Anna Thomas farm, near Union Chapel in Clinton township has been sold by Mrs. Thomas to Lex Ferrand for a consideration of $12-000. The farm consists of 120 acres and is known as the old Thomas homestead farm.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON COMES WITH MIDDLE WEST MEN

RELATIONS WITH JAPAN STRAINED

AMBASSADOR TO U. S. HAS RE-TURNED TO HIS COUNTRY AND WILL LAY IMPORTANT MATTERS BEFORE HIS GOV-ERNMENT—JAPANESE DELE-GATES TO PEACE CONFER-ENCE THREATEN TO WITH-DRAW.

ENTER AMERICAN HOSPITAL

Washington, April 16.—Viscount Ishii, Japanese ambassador to the United States, will return to Japan shortly for a conference with his government, it was learned authoritatively here today.

Significance is attached to this action in view of the Japanese action in Paris, where the Tokio delegates are threatening to withdraw from the peace conference and in view of numerous difficulties that have arisen recently in the relations between the United States and Japan.

The ambassador goes to Tokio to lay important matters regarding the Japanese situation before his government, the United Press was informed.
He has not been recalled as ambassador, it is understood, but there is some doubt in diplomatic quarters that he will return to Washington.

Following reports to the state department that an American hospital in Korea had been entered by Japanese governments and Korean patients in the building arrested and removed, together with the reported arrest of
Rev. Kly N. Mowry, Mansfield, O., Presbyterian missionary to Korea, officials today indicated that a serious situation has been born.

Difficulties seem to be rapidly increasing between the two nations.
Reported Japanese infringements on American rights in Korea are being carefully investigated by this government. Previously there has been growing feeling in Japan against the United States for President Wilson's refusal to sanction clause in the league of nations covenant which would insure against radical discrimination by any nation against the Orientals.

HEBE WAS SMILING AND THERE IS A REASON

Hebe Ellis was a happy man Wednesday. For Hebe is an ex-farmer.
Last spring Hebe went into the farming business by buying a farm in Madison township. Then he farmed for a year. This spring he sold the farm to O. L. Jones.

Tuesday was the time set for his public sale, at which he was to dispose of his personal farm property. It was rainy and bad—surely a dismal day.

So Hebe was blue. He had figured that his personal property should bring at least $3,000, but he feared that bidding would be slack and that he would be forced to sacrifice his holdings.

But behold when the bidding started a great crowd was there. The farmers could not work on account of the rain, and so they had taken the day off to attend the sale.

And they were bidders of the right sort. O. L. Jones, who bought the farm, was there to see that nothing sold too cheaply. And he did. When he got tired of bidding, he got Jess Jones to help him out. Others, too, were there. And when the sale ended the total sales amounted to more than $4,000.

Some sale. They all say it was a corker. Everything sold high—higher than Hebe had expected. So why should the ex-farmer not be happy?

EUGENE V. DEBS STARTS PRISON SENTENCE

Moundsville, W. Va., April 14.—
Eugene V. Debs, many times Socialist candidate for President, entered the West Virginia penitentiary late tonight and began serving a ten-year sentence for violation of the espionage act. As the prisoner stood in the doorway of the penitentiary he said:

HEAVY TOLL IS TAKEN BY GREAT STORM

Dallas, Tex.—The death toll in storms last Tuesday night and yesterday in northern Texas, southern Oklahoma and part of Arkansas is put at nearly 100, while several hundred persons are reported injured. The property loss is high, probably several millions.

The known death list totaled ninety-seven at the last tabulation. Indications were this will be increased when crippled wire lines are restored to the small villages in north Texas, where the heaviest loss of life occurred.

Damage to crops probably will run very high, as the principal products raised in Texas were at the stage most easily affected by heavy wind and rain.

The counties most seriously affected in Texas were Grayson, Fannin, Hunt, Wood, Vanzandt, Wichita, Collins, Camp and Titus. In Oklahoma, Bryan, Cotton and Pontotoc counties suffered greatest damage.

The oil fields of Wichita county and southern Oklahoma suffered hundreds of thousands dollars damage in wrecked oil rigs and machinery.

Rescue and relief work continued all last night. Fifty tents were borrowed from the Woodmen of the World lodge, in convention in Dallas, and rushed to Leonard, Tex., where five are known to be dead and fifteen injured. The Red Cross also has started relief work in many of the devastated areas.

According to dispatches from all parts of the storm stricken districts today, thousands are homeless. In many districts, physicians were reported unable to care for all the injured; hospital facilities are lacking and medical supplies were badly needed.

Churches, city buildings and school-houses were fitted out as temporary hospitals. Three separate storms covered a wide area, stretching from north central Texas into Arkansas.

At Texarkana, Kans., one house was blown several yards. A body was found in a tree. Near Walters, Okla., two men were blown into a water tank and were there several hours.

The great benefit derived from the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been gratefully acknowledged by many. Mrs. Benjamin F. I gave it to my children when small for croup and have taken it myself."—Adv.

MANUSCRIPTS CONSIDERED
BY DUZER DU COMMITTEE

The play reading committee of the Duzer Du dramatic fraternity is at work reading the manuscripts handed in by the students. Several of these one-act plays are to be selected by the committee which is composed of Grace Ruthenburg, Frank Roberts, and Helen Carry, of Duzer Du, and Professor H. B. Gough and A. E. Caldwell, of the faculty. The people whose plays are accepted by the committee will be elected to the club not as dramatic members but as playwrights.

Y. M. C. CLOSES MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The Y. M. C. A. membership campaign closed Thursday with the report paid last Thursday with the report of the membership committee at the regular weekly meeting of the association. The outcome of the campaign thus far is still in doubt, but according to Frank Roberts, chairman of the committee, if this campaign fails a personal one will be conducted immediately with the intention of interviewing every man on the campus.

The idea of the committee has been to put over two campaigns in one—both membership and financial. Emphasis, however, has been laid upon the membership end of the undertaking, and all men have been urged to sign the cards which were placed in fraternity houses and Florence Hall.

It is necessary, according to Mr. Roberts, for every man in the university to become a member, as the success of the "Y" next year will depend largely upon the number of members obtained this year. These men will of course form the backbone of the association next fall. He pointed out that the co-eds were giving two dollars apiece for Madras, in addition to their Y. W. C. A. work, and that it behooved the men to prove their spirit and give to the Y. M. A. 100 per cent membership on the De Pauw campus.

Another idea of the campaign was not especially that of securing members for the remainder of the college year, but rather that of closing up the work of the "Y" during the past year, since due to the S. A. T. C. no membership campaign was launched last fall.

John Rabb Emison and Clyde Linger are serving with Mr. Roberts on the committee.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN C.

EMISON REPORTED HERE

Word was received in Greencastle last Friday morning of the death of Mrs. John Clinton Emison, formerly home in New York City last Thursday. The sad news of the death of Mrs. Emison followed the word which came several days ago announcing the birth of a baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Emison.

The word of Mrs. Emison's death came as a shock to her many friends in the town and college. As Miss Gregg, she was well and popularly known here when for a number of years she was engaged as teacher of German in the Greencastle high school. Her marriage to Mr. Emison occurred three years ago.

Mrs. Emison is survived by her husband, who is employed in the national city bank of New York City; a baby daughter, her mother and brother, Kenyon. Mrs. Gregg was in New York at the time of her daughter's death.

The word which was received in Greencastle stated that funeral services would be held in Vincennes, but the date was not given.

NOTED SPEAKER GIVES

VIEW OF RUSSIAN CHAOS

America, the place where men and women may live "good lives," the land of which men have dreamed, a country where capital and labor do not strive to exterminate each other and the nation in which all men are Americans. For such a land and nation did Ralph Dennis, noted educator, experienced Y. M. C. A. worker and intelligent observer of world events, plead in an address delivered in Meharry Hall last Thursday night. With unimpassioned but earnest speech Prof. Dennis, who only recently returned from Russia, told of the chaos of the East and warned lest the menace of Bolshevism rampant there gain root and ravage America. Clearly he pointed out the danger with which the people of this nation are faced, for even now Bolsheviki money, and Bolsheviki propaganda is at work here, he said, and the great ideal of the leaders of Russian affairs is to bring to America that which is now wreaking disaster in Russia.

Prof. Dennis, who spent several months in Russia as a Y. M. C. A. representative, was afforded the opportunity of witnessing the collapse of the Kerensky regime and the institution of a Bolshevistic government.

He explained the success of the Bolsheviki leaders in this manner.

Lenine, he said, was a Russian socialist, highly educated, probably sincere in his purpose, but thoroughly imbued with the rabid teachings of what he termed the "autocracy of the working people." During the war Lenine lived in Switzerland until the time when Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm offered to allow him to travel through Germany to Russia and then, in order to aid him in disseminating Bolshevistic doctrines through the Russian army, send with him educated German propagandists. This offer Lenine accepted and the plan of the Kaiser worked well.

Lenine with his German agents did spread the teachings of Bolshevism. The peasants were told to take their guns and go back home and from their former employers take the factory, from the landowners take the land, and make them their own. The peasant did this, lured on by the promise of bread and peace, Dennis stated. He did what he was told to do, but he did not gain that which was promised him.

Instead of peace he has found only continued struggle and his bread he has had taken from him, the speaker said.

Prof. Dennis told of the manner in which the nationalization of everything in Russia had been carried on. Even the agricultural products are taken from the farmers, he said, and used by the state. He ascribed the failure of Lenine's plan largely to the fact that it was a scheme designed for an industrial state, inaugurated in an agricultural nation.

Eighty per cent of the Russian people, Dennis said, were peasants, and of this population he estimated that by far the majority were dissatisfied with the present form of government. He deplored America's policy of maintaining a small and ineffective army in Russia and urged that the military force there either be made effective or withdrawn.

In closing, he voiced a strong appeal to the young men and women of the present day to set themselves about the task of making America "the place where men and women may live good lives and eliminating the friction which in the past has continually arisen between capital and labor. The work which faces the world today, he said, is mighty compared with the task which faced the world before the war." That task was concrete, the new task is intangible. But only through its accomplishment, he said, "can America be made safe from Bolshevism, the machine gun route to the regime of the workingmen's autocracy."

AMERICAN IS
SLAIN BY MEXICANS

American Consulate Will Investigate Murder.

Washington, April 11.—Edward R. Morgan, an American citizen, was murdered at Chivela, forty-seven miles from Salina Cruz, Mexico, on the night of April 8, according to advices to the state department today. The state department has ordered an investigation of the crime, as dispatches thus far received, it was said, failed to reveal whether a rebel band was responsible. Morgan was manager of the Chivela estate of 125,000 acres on the Tehuantepec Railroad, owned by George G. Wright, of Kansas City, Mo.

Morgan, the dispatches received by the department today stated, was accompanied by Manuel Ruiz, a Spaniard, who also was murdered. The two men were said by the dispatches to have been captured, searched and robbed before being shot to death. Both bodies were said to have shown marks of other violence.

American Consul Burlingham, at Salina Cruz, notified the department that he had designated a member of his staff to represent the consulate at the funeral of Morgan, which took place at San Geronimo.

Mr. Morgan's wife lives at Houston, Tex., and a brother, John J. Morgan, lives at Columbus, O.

YOUR ideas and wishes as to what shall be done with your estate can only be carried out through the medium of a properly drawn will.

Why Delay So Serious a Duty?

Sickness comes quickly and a will should be drawn when the testator is in physical and mental good health.

One of the most important features of a will is the appointment of an executor. Is it not advisable that you make this selection yourself, rather than your estate be committed to the hands of an unknown or inexperienced administrator? THE CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY will help you draw up your will, and will see that your directions are carefully executed.

PROVIDE FOR DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS HERE

Between the tenth and thirtieth of all unmarried persons between the ages of six and twenty-one years will be enumerated for the purpose of making the distribution of the funds for the maintenance and support of schools, it was announced by the board of education. Parents and guardians are required to take an oath that the enumeration is correct, as is the total number of persons eligible for enumeration and under their charge.

This enumeration is now being made and it has seemed advisable to call attention of the people of the city and township to the fact that assistance is needed to make the enumeration complete and correct. If there has been an accidental omission of a name from the list, it is requested that the person be reported to the office of the superintendent of schools not later than April 30. If a name is omitted, the complete list is not secure, the city is deprived of that portion of school revenue contributed by the state.

At the same time the enumeration of all soldiers is being taken. All persons are asked to have at hand the necessary data to make the list correct and complete.

Mrs. Loula Palmer is taking the enumeration for the city and Miss Green for Greencastle township.

NORS MUST STAY OUT OF POOL HALL.

Prohibitory measures, if such are necessary, will be taken by the city administration to stamp out the now prevalent practice of permitting minors to play in the poolrooms of Greencastle, it was announced in the mayor's office last Saturday.

Letters were issued to the proprietors of the several poolrooms in the city to appear before Mayor Rupert Riley, Monday. At that time the proprietors will be given a last warning, it is said, and from Monday on the state law which prohibits minors from playing in pool rooms will be strictly enforced.

Although Mayor Bartley made no statement as to whether fines will be laid upon any of the poolroom owners for past disregard of the law, it was hinted that one owner in particular had disobeyed former warnings and that he would likely be the weight of a fine. Several days ago, it is said, Marshal Henry made a journey to the several pool rooms of the city and warned the owners that minors must not be permitted to play at their tables. It seemed that slight heed was paid to the marshal's warning as only minor trouble has arisen over the presence of minors in the pool halls. It is rumored that several high school boys were later found in a pool hall and then warned by school officials that if visits to the hall continued they would be expelled from school.

AMERICAN SOLDIERS MUTINY.

Washington, April 12.—The first mutiny of American troops in the European war is confirmed today in addition to the state department from a dispatch from the front.

A company of infantry when ordered to pack for the front refused to obey the order. Only one man was arrested for the outbreak and he was afterwards released. The mutiny was coupled with a command by the officers that they be brought back to their homes. It was intimated that the officials here made some immediate announcement as to why the American soldiers are kept longer in Europe in Russia the mutiny will be general.

DECISION IN COFFMAN CASE FAVORS DEFENDANT

Hughes Holds Plaintiff Fails to Make Out Case.

The suit filed some time ago in the common pleas court circuit was yesterday dismissed last Friday when Judge James P. Hughes instructed the jury to render decision favorable to the defendant.

The suit was filed by Isaac Coffman, of Cleveland, who asked judgment of $900 against the estate of his son, who recently died, in return for services which he claimed to have rendered her. The defendant in the case was Ott Sherrill, of Cleveland, administrator of the Coffman estate. After Wilson and Hamilton, attorneys for the plaintiff, had rested their case, the attorneys for the defendant, Hughes and Murphy, asked that the case be dismissed, alleging that the plaintiff had failed to make a case. The case was dismissed.

Mrs. Frank Donner and Mrs. O. F. Overstreet were in Indianapolis last Saturday to attend the English theater.

The Forgotten Story

"From the very nature of things I can't tell Alice," said the conservation enthusiast. "It's Alice's book."

"Her book!" said the war relief worker. "When did she write one? I never knew she wrote at all!"

"She doesn't, now," the conservation enthusiast made chuckling reply. "She learned long ago that her gift didn't lie in that direction. But when she was a very young girl—you see, I was born in the same block with Alice, and have known her ever since we were children—she had great dreams of becoming a famous author. I used to hear all about them—and encourage her, that being the time when I confidently expected to blossom into a renowned artist. When we were 17 I painted wild pictures and Alice wrote a book."

"It was a mild little love story, with a rather original idea, but so crudely written! We thought it lovely then, but Alice was thankful soon after that it died in the burning. The publisher failed the week of publication, so only the few friends upon whom Alice modestly pressed the few copies he gave her, before the receivers took his business over and decided to run it differently ever saw the volume. But I felt almost as distressed as Alice over this seeming catastrophe, and I took one of the copies to our librarian here and got him to put it in the library."

"Well, we both went to preparatory school that autumn. We wanted to get ready for college as quickly as possible. We were busy as bees every moment for ages and I don't believe Alice ever thought of that book—I know I didn't—until she began to attract attention by her brilliant sociological work."

"A fellow worker who had heard of the thing somehow or other twitted Alice about it, then seriously advised her to see that it was withdrawn from all possibility of circulation. If she didn't, he said, somebody would give it an untimely resurrection some time and she'd feel ridiculous. So Alice went to lots of trouble hunting up the man who bought out her unlucky publisher. When she found him he said he had no idea where the plates of that book were; he didn't even know whether they were in existence. But Alice wanted them so badly that he hunted them up and sold them to her for $50. I expect she might have had them for nothing if she hadn't been so anxious. Anyway, Alice had them sent home and her brother used them as ballast for his sailboat until he got it capsized, somehow, and lost both plates and all."

"Then Alice forgot all about the matter, I'm certain. She's been so busy with so many things for years, now. But before she got the plates she visited the library here and asked the librarian to give her back the book. The librarian said his predecessor had placed that book in the library, with the consent of the board of directors, and he had no authority to take it out again unless the directors discussed the question at a regular meeting and gave their official sanction. Alice didn't wait the thing talked about, so she explained the situation to the librarian, told him that the book was crude and that she'd outgrown it. So the librarian told her that he'd withdraw it from the regular shelves and put it on a special shelf in his office, where visitors would not greet it."

"But the other day that new Mrs. Jenkins, who's so inquisitive and gossipy, went downtown on the train with me and remarked, in the course of conversation, that she had only just learned that Miss Bill was a writer."

"She isn't," I said. "She talks about her work, sometimes, but she doesn't write about it. And she hardly thinks of anything but her work and the war."

"Well," said Mrs. Jenkins, "she must be a writer and of rather an advanced type at that, for I noticed a novel by Alice M. Bill in the catalog of our village library, and it was on the starred list."

"Well, my dear, the proverbial feather wouldn't have been needed to throw me off my balance. The truth came to me in a flash, and I determined that Alice, who's got a lot of responsibility on her shoulders at present, shouldn't be worried about it. So I told Mrs. Jenkins, quite truthfully, that Alice had several relatives of the same name, that two of them had died about fifteen years ago (five or six years after Alice wrote that wretched little tale, you'll notice) that I'd known Alice ever since we were babies and knew she'd never had even a thought that would need a library starring, that books were starred for various reasons, that if Alice should ever write anything I'd be sure to know about it."

"But it occurred to me later that it would be just as well to remove all chance of similar dangers, so this morning I came in and took that book off the starred shelf without asking for it. Nobody saw me and tomorrow the library purchasing committee will receive an anonymous contribution sufficient to replace its full value."

"But every time I think of that starred shelf I giggle."

HONOR MEMORY OF FIRST AUTO

MONUMENT MARKS THE PLACE WHERE IT BEGAN TRIP.

Big Steam Wagon Built in Fifties to Cross Western Prairies Went Only Seven Miles.

This is the story, not of a new invention, but of an old one that was forgotten, the "father of automobiles." The Nebraska State Historical Association has just erected at Nebraska City a monument to a clumsy, unwieldy "steam wagon" with which some prophet of half a century ago dreamed he could race across the Western prairies at ten times the speed attained by the famous "bull wagons" which were the chief means of communication between the Golden West and civilization east of the Mississippi River. The monument is erected on the exact spot from which the big steam wagon, the forerunner of the automobile of today, started on its memorable attempt to go from the Missouri River to Pike's Peak. The inscription reads:

Steam Wagon, Invented and Owned by Joseph R. Brown of Minnesota. Manufactured by John A. Reed, of New York. Landed at Nebraska City from Steamer West Wind, July 12, 1862. Started for Denver, Self-Propelled, July 22, 1862.

Disabled and Abandoned Seven Miles Out.

But it was the first automobile in all the country. The "prairie motor," as it was called, bore slight resemblance to the trim automobile of today. It was equipped with four engines of twelve horse-power each. The drive wheels were 10 feet in diameter and the tires, which were of boiler iron, were 18 inches wide. The steering wheel was 6 feet in diameter. Wood was used for fuel and one cord would drive the machine for eight hours.

After a trial trip in New Jersey apparently demonstrated the success of the steam wagon, the machine was shipped to St. Louis by rail and there loaded upon a steamboat, the West Wind, which brought it up the Missouri River to Nebraska City.

In those days Nebraska City was one of the chief outfitting points for Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and the Northwest country. Omaha was a mere village, more than half the houses being the tepees of Indians. But Nebraska City did a tremendous business. In one year more than 7,000 wagons, each drawn by from four to eight oxen or mules, left Nebraska City for Denver. This does not take into consideration the vast amount of freighting between the Missouri River point and other portions of the West. The swiftest stage coaches, traveling night and day, required a week to go between Nebraska City and Denver, and the stage fare was $75.

It was to capture a portion of this lucrative traffic that induced Capt. Joseph Brown of St. Paul to build the "prairie motor" and bring it out to Nebraska City. It was his intention should the first one prove as successful as expected, to equip a complete "fleet" and monopolize the freighting business of the West.

As the prairie motor started off on July 22, 1862, the whistles of the boats, the ringing of bells and the cheering of the people accompanied her.

Four miles and a half were covered in less than an hour. But after the big wagon had gone seven miles there was a stop. Something was wrong. A piston rod had broken. The engineer walked back to town, got teams of horses and returned to the steamer. The loaded wagons were returned to Nebraska City. The steamer was pulled to one side of the road and left standing until a new piston rod could be brought from New York. But the specifications had been misplaced and several letters passed back and forth before the repairs were shipped. And in those days considerable time was required to get an answer from New York.

Then the new piston rod was shipped. It became misplaced and never reached its destination. A new one was ordered. Winter came on and the snows blocked the roads. Then the government chartered the Union Pacific Railroad and the promoters of the automobile line to the mountains saw the end of their dreams.

The prairie motor was hauled back to Nebraska City and put out in J. Sterling Morton's back yard, where it made a very convenient place for the children and the chickens. It was finally broken up and sold for old iron. The boiler was used in the gas works for several years and afterwards taken to Hamburg, Iowa, where it furnished steam for a grain elevator. When the elevator burned the boiler was wrecked.

SHOTGUN BULLET

Cylinder Tapering at Ends, Instead of Ball, Now Being Used in Massachusetts.

A new bullet for shotguns has been invented at Greenfield, Mass., after several years of experimental work. The old round bullet has the force and penetration, but lacks accuracy. The bullet evolved is really a hollow cylinder, slightly tapering at the ends. It has two spiral projectiles or wings, which in a measure take the place of the spiral groove in a rifle barrel and impart to the bullet a rotating motion which adds greatly to the accuracy of its flight.

MANY CHICKEN ILLS CAUSED BY ROOSTS

Wise Plan is to Have Supports on Level and Conveniently Close to the Floor

Very few poultry keepers make post-mortem examinations of their dead fowls, and as a result, a great percentage of loss is charged to diseases which may not have had any influence on the deaths.

The pyramid method of arranging roosts is one of the factors that cause injury and subsequent death to a great many birds. Most fowls want to get on the highest roost and will knock each other off in the attempt to get possession at night. As the egg organs are delicate parts of the anatomy, they often are returned or the forming egg is broken by physical injury to the hen.

From the post mortems conducted on hens from all parts of Missouri which have been sent to the Missouri State Poultry Experiment station for examination, a very large percentage show broken eggs as the initial cause of disease, although other diseases may develop out of that injury and later cause the death.

When a hen's vitality is lowered from any cause she is susceptible to contagious diseases to a greater extent than if she is normally well.

As it does not cost any more to have all roosts on a level and conveniently close to the floor, it would seem to be a wise plan to so arrange the roosts, even if the old style have to be torn out and a few new ones placed in the poultry house, for one disabled laying hen cuts down the profits to the extent of her value at time of injury, and if she continues to live and eat for several months without producing a reasonable number of eggs she becomes an additional expense on the balance of the flock.

A great many farmers expect their fowls to steal most of their living from the other live stock on the farm, and if asked how they feed their flock reply that the birds get what come they want from the hog yard or in the horse barn. Such a method of feeding is less profitable than giving the grain ration to the fowls in a scratching shed or in litter on the poultry house floor. For then the birds work harder to get a living, taking the necessary exercise to keep them healthy and are not subject to physical injury and death from the other animals.

With or Without Manure.

A correspondent whose land is not very rich and slightly inclined to be wet writes that he had a three year rotation, applying half a ton of fertilizer to potatoes and following with wheat and clover. He wants to know whether he can expect to fill his soil with humus under this system or if livestock should be kept. He believes he can escape the expense of tile drainage if plenty of humus is applied. He also wants to know whether finally he can get away from the purchase of so much commercial fertilizer.

If the clover makes a heavy growth and if the second crop is plowed down this soil will get enough organic matter to improve in physical condition and that may save from the necessity of drainage, although it cannot do a great deal in this direction if the land naturally needs drainage. One cannot build up fertility as quickly without manure as with it, but land can be made and kept productive under the system named. Our friend will always find it necessary to use commercial fertilizer in this rotation, partly because the soil needs the phosphorus and partly because there is a heavier drain upon the nitrogen in this system of cropping than the clover can make good. Whenever potatoes are a profitable crop it is good farming to supply available plant food in a fertilizer to supplement the nitrogen that came from clover and to supply the mineral plant food that the soil may lack. If livestock is profitable it is good business to have it, and the manure helps to maintain fertility, but where livestock does not in itself pay it is absolutely good farming practice to depend upon legumes for humus and upon commercial fertilizer for whatever may be needed in addition to get a good yield of potatoes and wheat.

Convenient Twine Holder

It is a tiny tin funnel hung up by the ring, and painted to match the kitchen woodwork, says a contributor in Farm and Home. The ball of twine just fits in the bowl, and the end hangs down through the spout. The edge of the spout is filed sharp, and is used as a twine cutter. I keep this convenient to my work table, and it saves many steps, hunting for that elusive ball of twine.

Economies.

If powdered soap is needed in a hurry and there is none at hand, says a writer in Farm and Home, just run bath soap or common yellow or white laundry soap through the food chopper, using the fine blade, and the soap powder will be as fine as anyone can wish. I save all scraps of soap, and powder it in this way, and use it in the boiler on wash days. Scraps of toilet soap are powdered and used with oat meal in the bath bags.

Crooked rows in a garden can never be made to look neat and trim.

CACTUS COVERS GOVERNOR'S GRAVE

Movement on Foot to Bring Body of Thomas S. Drew Back to Arkansas.

First Campaign of Land Owner, Buried in Texas, Cost Him Only Ten Dollars

Pocahontas, Ark.—Cactus and mesquite now cover the neglected grave of Thomas S. Drew, one of the first Governors of Arkansas, whose body is buried in Hood County, Texas. A movement is on foot to have the State Legislature make an appropriation for bringing the body back for burial at Pocahontas, and a bill providing for such action probably will be introduced.

Drew came to Arkansas when a young man and soon became a Democratic leader in the northern part of the state. He was appointed Register of Public Lands at Batesville, served as Indian Agent and afterwards held other offices.

He and his father-in-law, Ransom Pettis, soon became the owners of considerable property. They held a tract of magnificent land in the territory between Current and Black Rivers, known far and wide as Cherokee Bay.

In 1844 Drew was nominated by the Democratic party to run for Governor and was elected.

A story is current in Randolph County that marks a wonderful contrast between the campaign of that day and the expensive campaigns of today. When he received the nomination, the story goes, Drew sold one of his slaves for $1,000 in order to get funds to run. On his return home, after canvassing the entire State, it was found that he had spent less than $10. It is said that this was for horse-shoeing and ferry hire.

In early days of honest simplicity, a candidate was received with open arms everywhere and it was usually considered an insult to offer to pay the host.

In 1848, Drew was re-elected Governor, an honor conferred on but one other man while the term of the Governor was four years.

The salary of the Governor was then $1,500 a year, and with a large family to support, Drew soon found himself on the verge of financial ruin. While serving the second term he resigned and returned to Randolph County, telling his friends that he was forced to do so in order to support his family.

His property dwindled, his father-in-law, his wife and other members of his family died and cares bore heavily on the now "old man."

In an effort to retrieve his fortunes Drew went to California, and for a few years fought against the fates. But he was staggering beneath the augmented weight of years and sorrows and soon returned to Pocahontas. A widowed daughter moved to Texas and that he might not be cast on charity of the world, he went with her. He died soon afterward.

His father-in-law, his wife, and other members of his family were buried here in what is now the south part of the city, in their private burying ground. As the city expanded and grew in population new streets were laid off. One of the streets was located over the identical spot where the bodies were buried. For many years the graves were neglected. Robt. Hamill a few years ago took the matter in hand, and had the bodies buried in the Masonic Cemetery.

The grave of Gov. Drew is in Hood County, Texas, covered with wild cactus and mesquite. A slab has never been erected.

In 1911 C. E. Henderson, then Senator from this district, introduced and passed through the Senate a measure to bring the body back to Arkansas. It was defeated in the Lower House.

Dream Imprisons Boy for Seven Years

Russellville, Ala.—Julian Mines, who has been a voluntary prisoner in his home for seven years because of a dream his mother had, will break his long period of restraint on his approaching twenty-first birthday by walking to the business district of Russellville.

The family has kept the date of the youth's birthday a secret, but it is known to be near, and the appearance of young Mines on the street is expected to attract considerable attention.

When the boy was 14 years old his mother dreamed a spirit from heaven came to her and told her that if Julian left his home again before he was 21 he would be stricken dead. She told the dream next morning and Julian was so impressed by it that he consented to remain at home. Since that time he has not passed through the gate of his own yard.

He has had the freedom of the yard, and day after day stands at the fence talking to his boy friends. Some of them visit him, and sometimes when they gather in the street to play football or baseball they kick or throw the ball to him and he returns it.

He has devoted himself to music, photography and shop work, and has attained proficiency in these subjects. He has kept up his studies and is a normal, healthy youth.

One way to sidetrack bad luck is to prepared for it.

PUTNAM'S QUOTA

IS $623,000

Putnam county's quota in the Victory Liberty Loan drive is $623,000.

This announcement was made late Monday by Will H. Wade, of Indianapolis, state director of sales.

This is much less than had been anticipated. In fact, it is only 75 per cent of the quota for Putnam county in the fourth Liberty Loan drive.

The quota for Putnam county in the five drives is as follows:

First Loan	$275,000
Second Loan	640,000
Third Loan	375,000
Fourth Loan	830,000
Fifth Loan	623,000

It was believed that the amount of the loan would reach the six billion mark, but when the announcement was made that the loan would be only four and a half billion there was much surprise.

Much work must be done to accomplish in Putnam county the sales that have been apportioned it. A close organization and thorough canvass, it is believed, however, will bring a successful campaign.

$18,500,000,000 TOTAL

LOAN ISSUES TO DATE

Terms of the Victory Loan issue may be compared with the following terms of past issues:

First loan, $2,000,000,000; 3 1/2 per cent, tax exempt, maturity thirty years.

Third loan, $3,000,000,000 offered; $4,176,000,000 subscribed and accepted, 4 1/4 per cent, partially tax exempt, maturity ten years.

Fourth loan $6,000,000,000; $6,693,000,000 subscribed and accepted; 4 1/4 per cent partially tax exempt, maturity ten years.

War Savings Stamps bear the equivalent of 4 per cent interest, and mature in five years.

Mrs. George Lipps, who has been here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rudisell, has returned to her home in Indianapolis.

RICH WOMEN FINANCE REDS IN U. S. REPORT

Washington, April 12.—Reports that Bolshevik agitation in the United States is being financed by wealthy women have reached the department of justice. One report related that a wealthy American woman had undertaken to pay the expenses of agitators to form Soviets among negroes in the South. No evidence of this agitation has developed.

THANKS.

DEPAUW WINS FROM WABASH

Disorganized by the absence of McKinney and seemingly attacked by a bad case of stage fright, the Wabash baseball team lost the opening contest of the 1919 season to DePauw last Friday afternoon by a score of 6 to 1. The game was played in a cold wind and only a handful of spectators turned out for the contest. Neither teams gave any indication of playing first-class baseball, but DePauw gave a much better exhibition than did Wabash.

DePauw counted once in each of the first three innings and twice in the fourth. After that frame the Scarlet settled down and played slightly better ball and the visitors counted only once more in the remaining inning. The Scarlet batsmen were unable to find Julian until the final inning, when they counted once, and should have counted at least once more, as they had three on bases with none out.

The defensive work of the local team was a disappointment to its supporters, although it was plain that the men were badly off form throughout the contest. Wabash made seven errors in all, which accounted for all but one of the runs scored by DePauw. Julian, pitching for DePauw, struck out eight men and held the Scarlet under control at most times. Hesler started the game for Wabash, but gave way to Jay in the sixth inning. Both of the Scarlet pitchers gave good accounts of themselves, but received miserable support. Score:

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick and Mr. and Mrs. Brock, who are holding evangelistic services in College avenue church, entertained the student body Tuesday morning in chapel. Rev. Kirkpatrick opened the chapel period with the reading of the 17th chapter of Jeremiah: "Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is. For he is like a tree planted by the waters and that spreadeth out her roots by the river, and shall not see when heat cometh, but her leaf shall be green, and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit." Rev. Kirkpatrick stated that "a man must anchor to something like the tree to its root, and that thing which will help him the most is to be anchored to the faith in Christ. We must cultivate the roots of our lives and by so doing our branches will be as fruitful as the tree planted by the water."

Mr. Brock and Rev. Kirkpatrick sang a very impressive duet entitled: "Drifting Carelessly With the Tide." Mr. Brock closed with a patriotic solo "Land of Mine." Mrs. Brock presided at the piano.

The Girls' Scout Troop No. 1, under the leadership of Miss Ilene Carmack, will meet at 6:45 this evening.

Several teachers of Bloomingdale Academy, which burned to the ground recently, were visitors to the high school Tuesday morning. They are on a trip of inspection of the modern buildings of the state and Greencastle with her new building was a station of interest. A new building will be built soon at Bloomingdale to replace the one burned.

DEATH OF MRS. LUCY O'DANIELS OCCURS HERE MONDAY EVENING

The death of Mrs. Lucy O'Daniels, age 54, wife of J. W. O'Daniel, occurred at near 8:30 o'clock Monday evening at the home on East Seminary street. Death resulted from cancer. Beside the husband she leaves one son, William, of this city, a stepdaughter, Mrs. Edwin Clearwaters, of Cloverdale, and the mother, Mrs. W. G. Branham, of Cloverdale. Short services were held at the home on East Seminary street Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and then the body was taken to Cloverdale for interment. Short services were conducted at the chapel at the cemetery.

WORLD PEACE PROBABLE IN A FEW WEEKS

Paris, April 15.—Under the conference program as outlined by responsible persons, the world may have peace officially, at least, within the next few weeks. Announcement has been made by President Wilson that the German plenipotentiaries will be invited to meet representatives of the associated belligerent governments at Versailles April 25, just 165 days after the last gun of the great war was fired.

With presentation of the treaty to the German delegates, two courses will be open—either they can sign at once, or if they lack proper authority they may submit the document to the German government at Weimar. The allies, it is understood, are determined that no long haggling over the terms shall be permitted.

Period for Ratification.

Within a few days separate treaties with Bulgaria. Following signature of the pact by the enemy nations, a period of twenty or thirty days will be given the associated governments for ratification. When two-thirds of these governments have ratified the treaties they will become effective.

President Wilson is expected to call a special session of Congress not later than June 1 to permit ratification by the United States Senate.

SUDDENLY STRICKEN; BASIL SANFORD IS DEAF AND DUMB

Suddenly stricken while employed at the Indiana Portland Cement Company plant near Limesdale at near 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Basil Sanford, who lives at Limesdale is now deaf and dumb. Sanford has had defective hearing for many years, but suddenly while at work on Tuesday he became totally deaf and at the same time lost his power of speech. It is believed that his affliction is only temporary and that he soon will regain his speech and partial hearing.

SITUATION "STILL FULL OF PERILS"

London, April 16.—Replying in the House of Commons today to previous criticisms of his activities at the peace conference in Paris, Premier Lloyd George said the situation was "still full of perils for all countries." He pleaded that "those who were trying to do their best be let alone."

No conference in history, said the premier, had been faced with problems of such variety, complexity, magnitude and gravity. The congress of Vienna, which was the nearest approach to it, took eleven months for its work, but that congress, Mr. Lloyd George pointed out, sank into insignificance as compared with what had been settled by this conference.

Prince and Davis Present.

There was an early gathering of members of the House of Commons today and an equally early arrival of visitors, drawn by the address of Premier Lloyd George.

The prince of Wales entered the house soon after that body assembled and occupied a seat in the center of the distinguished strangers' gallery, where John W. Davis, the American ambassador, and other diplomats also were accommodated.

Mr. Lloyd George entered the house shortly after the first half hour of the session had passed. He met with a cordial reception.

GOOD PROGRAM PREPARED FOR SUMMER TERM

Preparations are now under way for summer school of 1919 by Prof. H. B. Gough, dean of DePauw summer school, and a program of excellent courses has been prepared for students desiring to take the summer training. A large attendance is expected this summer and early registration is desired. The summer bulletin may be obtained at Professor Gough's office in Asbury Hall.

The work this summer is designed to meet several needs. Students who have not the requirements for admission may work off their deficiencies. Those who intend to teach will have an opportunity to meet the requirements of the teaching profession, and at the same time acquire credits toward a degree. Students who wish to curtail the expense of a four years' course may complete their college work in three winters and three summers and so save money and time. The students who have not finished their prescribed work may take an entire year's course in a science or language or twelve hours' credit in any of the groups.

The summer school affords an opportunity of doing work free from the distractions of the winter session. At the same time recreation is not neglected and picnics at McLean Springs, the tennis courts and other summer attractions supply means of diversion.

It is especially desired that students intending to enter the summer session fill out the informal registration blank and leave it with Professor Gough in order that the schedule may be arranged.

SLENDER BANK ROLLS.

Of the $1,412.75 which was pledged by the students of DePauw in the recent endowment campaign carried on by the university, $295 has been paid, Dr. S. B. Towne, treasurer, announced. The rest of this money should be paid in by June 1, according to the statement made by Dr. Towne, Wednesday.

GERMANY IS INVITED TO VERSAILLES

FORMAL INVITATION TO HUNS TO ATTEND THE PEACE CONFERENCE IS EXTENDED—LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH TO HOUSE OF COMMONS IS AWAITED WITH INTEREST.

PRESIDENT WILL REMAIN

Washington, April 16.—Distinct improvement in the general peace conference situation was reported to the White House today from Paris. It was indicated that excellent progress was being made toward completing the negotiations.

Paris, April 16.—Having extended a formal invitation to the German government to send representatives to Versailles for the first meeting of the peace conference April 25, the council of four is attempting to settle the Adriatic controversy between Italy and Jugoslavia.

Simultaneously the allied delegations are arranging details of the Versailles meeting. Indications are that the exact demands to be submitted by the associated governments will not be made public until after the Germans have been informed of the price of peace. Previously to April 25, however, a secret plenary session of the conference may be called to give details of the treaty to the associated governments, including those that severed relations but did not go to war.

Await Lloyd George Speech.

Paris today awaited eagerly the text of the statement to be made in the house of commons at London by Premier David Lloyd George. Mr. Lloyd George has been under fire from political opponents for some time, the Northcliffe publications having been especially vigorous in their attacks on his reported activities at Paris. The premier is expected to reply to his critics. The forecast was for little more than outline in most general terms of the work by the peace conference, there being, it is said, an understanding between Mr. Lloyd George, President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau and Orlando that no details are to be made public at present. The fact that the British premier has decided to open the debate in the House of Commons, however, would appear to indicate his readiness to defend his work at Paris, and his defense may bring out some significant statements.

The condition of J. T. Palmer, who is critically ill in the Methodist hospital in Indianapolis, was reported Wednesday to be somewhat improved. Mr. Palmer was taken to the hospital two weeks ago to undergo an operation, but his condition has been such that it has been impossible to operate. Mr. Palmer is suffering uremic troubles.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to do to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

It's just business, that's all, to ADVERTISE in THIS PAPER

TRACTION COMPANY ASKS AN INCREASE IN RATES

The Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company has filed with the Indiana Public Service Commission the following petition:

Your petitioner, Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern Traction Company, respectfully prays for a revision of the freight rates now governing your petitioner so that the same may be placed upon an exact parity with the rates now in force by the steam railroads, and that the classifications and revision in the zones be made the same as now in force by the steam roads.

Your petitioner, in support of the foregoing, represents to your honorable body that on account of the high cost of operation in all departments the receipts from all its business are insufficient to meet its operating expenses and fixed charges, and that if the request above set forth is granted it will slightly increase the receipts of your petitioner for freight handled by it, which will to that extent assist in meeting the deficit under which it is now working.

Chas. Barnaby left on Monday for Indianapolis, where he will attend a meeting of the Indiana Manufacturers' Association, of which he is president. On Thursday he will go to Chicago to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the Hardwood Manufacturers' Association.

Why Armour Cannot Fix Meat Prices

It is generally known that the livestock supply varies from day to day, and that prices fluctuate in consequence. It is not so generally understood that the retail demand for fresh meat varies tremendously also, and that, in consequence, the price obtained by Armour and Company fluctuates, too.

When fresh meat is finished at the plants it is shipped to Armour branch houses located in more than 400 centers of consumption. And, this meat is shipped unsold. The branch house manager receives with it a memorandum of what it cost to produce the meat. It is a simple matter then for him to determine what he must seek to get for it if he is to show a profit. And, he must sell it in the open market, in direct competition with other packers' branch houses, local abattoirs, and so forth. Also, he must face the uncertainties of weather, heavy receipts of fish and fowl and, often, unexpected and unusual circumstances.

Under the heading of "unusual circumstances" for instance, would come the recent epidemic of Spanish influenza. Statistics gathered by Armour and Company show that while the epidemic was at its height fresh meat purchases the country over fell off no less than 25 per cent.

A sudden wave of intense heat; a severe blizzard which blocks roads and makes transportation difficult; heavy receipts of fish or game; local-killed meats coming on the markets in small communities—all or any of these factors have a marked effect on the demand for fresh meats.

Branch house managers must—because storage facilities demand it—dispose of their stock each week so far as possible. This often necessitates selling below cost.

Thus, if statistics be consulted, it will be found that the selling price of Armour and Company's fresh meats parallels the price of livestock and is constantly further affected by the conditions mentioned.

With these facts in view, fair-minded readers must comprehend that it is not possible for Armour and Company to fix the price of meats.

REGISTRATION IS HELD FOR STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

Much Interest Is Manifested by Large Number Who Registered Today at Polls.

DePauw students again registered Tuesday for the election of the student body officers for next year, which will be held Thursday. It is predicted by some that the election will be the most hotly contested election in the history of the school, and much interest is being manifested by all the students.

Unusual activity was manifested around the registration booth in Plato Hall this afternoon, and officials of both parties say the great majority of students registered for the election. The polls were open from 1 to 5 this afternoon.

The following tickets have been announced by the two political parties as a result of caucuses held last week by the various fraternities.

Conservative.
President—David Lilienthal.
Vice President—Margaret Shop-
taugh.

Secretary—Mary Gorrell.
Treasurer—Robert Ball.

Progressive.
President—Bernard Guild.
Vice President—Eleanor Schwartz.
Secretary—Marjorie Taylor.
Treasurer—Joe Zimmerman.

All students who registered Tuesday will be eligible to vote Thursday at the election. Voting hours Thursday will be from 1 to 5 in the afternoon. The newly elected officers of the student council will take office immediately, and will serve the remainder of this year, and until the election next year. The retiring officers are:

President—John Rabb Emison.
Vice President—Helen Lang.

AUDITS STUDENT COUNCIL BOOKS—FOUND THEM O. K.

The official auditing of the books of the Student Council was completed Tuesday by Dr. Salem B. Towne, treasurer of the university. However except for a brief statement as to the correctness of the books Dr. Towne reserved an announcement on the result of the investigation until Wednesday. The statement issued by Dr. Towne follows:

"I have examined the account books of the student council treasury as they appear in bank deposits and checks and found them correct.

DUZER DU WILL PRESENT PLAYS

Duzer Du, honorary dramatic fraternity, will present the plays of DePauw's playwright in Little Theater on May 24, it was announced Tuesday.

"Mr. Bolster Sneezes," a production by Elizabeth Horner, will be coached by Charles Canup, '14. Canup was an early member of Duzer Du and has been in several plays presented at DePauw. As yet no coach has been selected for the play "Alas, Pierrot!" by Elizabeth Hiff.

The casts have yet to be chosen. Wilbur Grose will have charge of the business end of the undertaking. On the same evening a number of professionals from Chicago interested in promoting the Little Theater movement will present a one-act play, several readings and interpretations. Among these are Beulah Bandy, a star of Cranford; Danny Reed; Bernadene Carver and Isadore Bennett. The last mentioned will give several interpretations.

At the time of this entertainment it is hoped that an encouraging announcement may be made concerning the progress of the Little Theater movement at DePauw, which is a part of the program of Duzer Du.

It is reported that several distinguished playwrights, including a graduate of DePauw, will be present to witness the histrionic ability of DePauw's dramatic society.

The party for "The Mob" cast has been postponed because of the unfavorable weather.

W. S. G. A. ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The annual W. S. G. A. election held Monday shows the closest election vote in the history of the organization, the new president leading her opponent by three votes and the Madras chairman elected by four votes.

The new cabinet who will take charge of S. G. A. affairs next fall are:

President—Cassandra Love.
Vice President—Katherine Holman.
Treasurer—Marjorie Taylor.
Secretary—Mabel Laughlin.
Madras Chairman—Helen O'Rear.
Miss Love, as a delegate from the DePauw W. S. G. A. will attend the Middle Western Intercollegiate Association for Women's Self Government to be held at Illinois University, Champaign, April 24-26.

The voting Monday was light, less than two-thirds of the women registering with the tellers. The election was in charge of the W. S. G. A. nominating committee, consisting of Mildred Meyers and Helen Lang.

W. S. G. A. WOULD ALTER PRESENT SOCIAL RULES

W. S. G. A. has presented to the faculty several suggestions for changes in rules governing women students for next year, it was learned Tuesday. These suggestions are now being considered by the faculty, but thus far no action has been taken.

The afternoon calling hours, according to the committee, which is now from 4:30 to 5:30, is generally disregarded in several ways. Girls who cannot receive callers at their houses of residence until 4:30 can easily meet them on the campus and stroll around the campus until the regular calling hours begin, it is said. The plan proposed by the S. G. A. provides for an earlier afternoon calling hour, thus allowing young women to entertain friends in their own homes and under proper conditions.

The board also proposed that couples be allowed to spend the day away from Greencastle without chaperones providing the permission of house chaperones is secured, but that a party of young women spending the evening out of town must be accompanied by an approved chaperone.

THE R. O. T. C.—WHY NOT?

It is evident that the R. O. T. C. finds little favor among freshmen and sophomores of DePauw. Why are they antagonistic toward an organization that attempts to train them so that they may serve their country more efficiently?

It is not that the student body is not alive to the value of military preparedness. It is simply an aversion to the system under which it is taught here. Many feel that it is a violation of their personal rights to be forced to take a "subject" against their will. Certainly a university student is capable of deciding what he wishes, or does not wish, to take. If he is not that intelligent, college is not the proper sphere for him. As the curriculum is for the benefit of the student, it does not seem unreasonable to say that he should have some voice in choosing of his course.

The standards of scholarship upheld at DePauw are high and to uphold these standards each student must do a great deal of work, and do it well. Knowing this, is it fair to ask a student to spend a portion of his time making maps or tramping country roads when his time could be spent in a way more advantageous to him? The under-classesmen grant the value of such training but feel that it is out of place in a busy college. When the government feels that universal training is necessary, as undoubtedly they will, adequate provisions for it will be made. Students taking the military course who have no interest in it are wasting their time, as they do not apply themselves and consequently get nothing out of it.

Therefore it seems that better results would be gained if military science were put in the class of other courses in the university—an elective course, entrance into it to be optional with the student.

RUNDELL WOOD.

NEED WORKERS AT RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS

The Putnam county Red Cross has less than a hundred unfinished garments on the shelves. These are all that are left of what will probably be our last quota and should all be finished and shipped by the 15th of May. These are little garments, nightgowns and undersuits for small children, and are very easy to make.

Will the women of Greencastle make an effort during this week and next to help complete this quota? Even the woman who is sewing for her own little folks can find time to slip in one or two of these little garments for those unfortunate little ones "over there." We have machines, thread and needles at the Red Cross rooms and will be glad to have the women come there to sew if they prefer to do so. It would be a fine thing if the clubs would, during the next two weeks, give one day to this work. If anyone wishes to sew at the Red Cross rooms during the morning, telephone Mrs. H. M. Smith and she will see that the room is open.

There is still a good supply of yarn on hand. If any knitter feels that she may be able to do some knitting during the next month or six weeks, we would be glad to have her take the yarn now. We hope to be able to close the Red Cross shop in May. To do this we must have a little help from everybody. We have made a fine record in Putnam county. We must not spoil it by being quitters at the last. But it is hardly fair to expect half a dozen women to do the work for the entire county, especially when this half dozen has been steadily on the job for over two years. Just a little help from each and every woman soldier and our Red Cross affairs can be closed with honor to all.

A RAINBOW RECEPTION COMMITTEE

Indiana's regiment of the Rainbow Division, which will go to Indianapolis for a parade before being mustered out, will be received by eight Putnam county men, all fathers of Rainbow boys, who have been appointed by C. C. Hurst as the Putnam county members of the state reception committee.

Those who are planning the reception of the Indiana Rainbow boys believe that they will arrive from overseas so as to be in Indianapolis some time between May 5 and May 10.

A great reception is planned for the boys. Putnam county's members of the reception committee will be Eugene A. Schmitt, Clarence Vestal, Hubert Jordan, William H. Welch, J. H. Skinner, all of Greencastle; Aaron B. Stewart, of Roachdale; Fred Fultz, of Cloverdale, and C. R. Hall, of Madison township.

O. & I. STONE QUARRY WILL BE OPERATED

The O. & I. Stone Company plant just west of town, which was closed down last fall, will be operated again as soon as the plant can be put in shape and an operating crew assembled. The plant is owned by the France Stone Company, of Toledo, O.

N. E. Kelb, an experienced stone man from Toledo, O., who has been connected with the France Stone Company for several years, is here now to begin work at the plant and secure a residence for his family.

Mr. Kelb stated that he found the plant to be in splendid condition. Peter Gerlach, formerly steam shovel engineer at the plant, has been in care of the machinery since it closed down and he has kept it in fine shape.

END OF WAR TO BRING MORE MUSIC

Exit from the world's stage grim-visaged, red-breasted Mr. War, and enter lighthearted Mr. Jazz.

Jazz music is going to flood the United States. That is the prediction of the various music houses.

There have been various explanations offered for the spread of jazz music. Perhaps it is the expression of one's feelings after two years of war depression. But anyhow the new jazz is going to be jazzier than ever. There is going to be more sneaky sounds, more moany moans, more clatter, more razzle-dazzle, more peculiar time than ever. At least that is the belief of the phonograph stores. And it is the result of the public's demand in an effort to erase the last bit of gloom stamped on our hearts by the two years of privation.

INDIANA HAS GOOD RECORD.

Indiana, with a per capita holding of $17.74 in War Savings Stamps, stands second in the Seventh Federal Reserve District in the sale of the War Stamps. The state also stands fourth among the states of the Union. Iowa stands in the first place among the states. Alfred M. Beasley of Linton, Ind., supreme archon of the United Ancient Order of Druids, has appealed to all of the Druid lodges in the state to co-operate in the sale of the War Savings Stamps.

FUNERAL OF JOHN T. HAYS HELD ON SUNDAY

Prominent Lawyer, Mason and Presbyterian.

Sullivan, Ind., April 11.—John T. Hays, 73 years old, who was engaged in the practice of law here for nearly half a century and founder of the law firm of Hays & Hays, well known throughout Indiana, died at noon Thursday of paralysis following three attacks of cerebral hemorrhage he suffered last Sunday. Members of the family were at the bedside when the end came. The funeral was held at the residence last Sunday afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. W. E. Gray, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Hays was an active member and an elder. His two sons, Will H. Hays, national chairman of the Republican party, and Hinkle C. Hays both were associated with their father in the practice of law.

STATE WIDE CELEBRATION IS PLANNED

C. C. Hurst, chairman of the county council of defense, is in receipt of a letter from the secretary of the state council of defense requesting him to appoint a committee of ten persons, preferably fathers of boys in service or who have been in service, to go as delegates to the celebration which will be accorded the 150th Field Artillery of the Rainbow Division when it reaches Indianapolis. The letter is as follows:

My Dear Sir: You probably know that the 42nd (Rainbow) Division is now on its way home and that the 150th Field Artillery regiment of that division, an all-Indiana organization, will be sent to Indianapolis to parade before it is mustered out.

A state-wide committee has been appointed to prepare plans for making the occasion of the return and reception of the 150th a general homecoming celebration in honor of all sons of Indiana who were in the service during the war. An invitation will be issued to all men who have been discharged and are returned to their homes in the state to come to Indianapolis and take part in the celebration, and it is desired that every county be represented on the reception committee.

The committee has requested the state council of defense to ask the several chairmen of the county councils of defense to immediately appoint a committee of ten, including themselves, of the most representative men of their respective counties (preferably, but not necessarily, the fathers of men who have been in the service) to officially represent their county at this celebration. You are requested to select these delegates at once and to send in their names to the undersigned in order that proper invitations may be sent them by the committee. You are urged also to be sure to select these delegates at once and to send in their names to the undersigned in order that proper invitations may be sent them by the committee. You are urged also to be sure to select only men who will positively attend the celebration, because the committee is going to count on ten men from each county and distribute duties accordingly.

It is not known just when the 150th will come, but it is expected some time between the 5th and 10th of May. The formal invitations will be sent to all county delegates just as soon as the adjutant general of the state is informed of the exact date.

We will appreciate it very much if you will be good enough to get your list of delegates in to us by next Thursday, the 17th, or earlier if you find it possible. Please be sure to give the address of each delegate.

A HIGH RANK IS GIVEN THE HIGH SCHOOL

At a meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in March, 1919, the Greencastle high school was placed upon the accredited list. The chief advantages of accreditation in the association are that it places the Greencastle high school in the highest class of high schools within the territory of the North Central Association, which is seventeen states, occupying the north central part of the United States, and in the second place all graduates of an accredited high school are admitted without examination to any of the colleges and universities within this territory.

The great advantage to graduates of the high school is apparent, as they have the privilege of entering any college within this territory on a par with the graduates of any other high school, the only requirement being a diploma from the Greencastle high school. The local high school is the only one in this section of the state that has met the exacting requirements of the association. Seventy-seven high schools in Indiana are now accredited.

The accreditation was granted after a careful examination of the course of study and a very elaborate report covering the entire school system, grades, departmental and high school. Grade teachers must meet a requirement as to scholastic and professional training and the general plan of the entire system in a necessary and important factor in securing this advanced standing. This is the first time in its history that the Greencastle high school has received such high standing and it is the result of very strenuous work and organization. In June, 1917, the Greencastle high school did not have a commission, now it has the highest rating given to high schools in this section of the country.

To Superintendent E. C. Dodson goes much of the credit of the great advancement in the city schools during the past few years. When he came to Greencastle the local high school did not even have a commission and was housed in a building which had been condemned by the state educational authorities.

Since Prof. Dodson has been here a new high school building has been erected and the school has been placed in the highest class obtainable for an Indiana school.

DEATH OF MRS. J. ED. ROGERS OCCURS SUNDAY

The death of Mrs. Wellie Mae Fisher Rogers, age 48, wife of J. Ed. Rogers of this city, occurred on Sunday morning at near one o'clock at her home on Seminary street, following an extended illness. Mrs. Rogers had been in ill health the past six years, but the past year her condition had been grave. A nervous breakdown which developed many complications resulted in her death. Beside her husband she leaves two children, Donald Rogers and Mary Rogers, who reside at home. Two other children preceded Mrs. Rogers in death.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock at the College avenue church, conducted by the Rev. Blaine Kirkpatrick. The body was taken to Newcastle for interment. Services also were held in the latter city at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and their children came to Greencastle from Newcastle a little more than two years ago in order that their children might take advantage of Greencastle's educational institutions. Mrs. Rogers during her residence in Greencastle was an active member of the College avenue Methodist church.

INDIANA TO SHARE IN SUM RAISED BY CENTENARY

Expansion of the home missionary work and the extension of other activities of the Methodist Episcopal church in Indiana will be made possible by the share which Indiana Methodists will receive from the $105,000,000 fund that is now being raised throughout the country.

More than one million dollars is to be spent in Indiana for uplifting conditions in the city and rural districts. Indiana's contribution to the centenary fund will exceed five million dollars.

As a result of a preliminary survey Indiana came in for a share of the centenary askings. The North Indiana conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, composed of the Ft. Wayne, Goshen, Logansport, Muncie, Richmond and Wabash districts asked for more than two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; the northwest conference, composed of Crawfordsville, Greencastle, Lafayette and South Bend, asked for more than eight hundred thousand dollars; the Indiana conference composed of the Indianapolis, Bloomington, Connersville, Evansville, Greensburg, New Albany, Seymour and Vincennes districts requested nearly two hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

WAR EXHIBIT TRAIN COMING.

A war exhibit train sent out by the feature department of the war loan organization of the seventh federal reserve district will start on a tour of Indiana towns and cities Wednesday morning, April 16. All of the important towns in Indiana will be visited on this tour, which will continue until Tuesday, May 6. The first city at which the exhibit will be on view will be Gary on Wednesday, April 16, and the last stop will be at Indianapolis. The train will be in Greencastle Sunday, May 4. It will arrive here at 12:30 p. m. and leave at 4:30 p. m.

The train will consist of several car loads of war trophies captured from the Germans by members of the American expeditionary forces, including large and small cannon, airplanes, rifles and machine guns, all kinds, various sorts of ammunition with some of the big calibre shells used by the German army in the reduction of the allied trenches and fortifications. German helmets of all kinds with other paraphernalia of war collected by our soldiers also will be on view.

The train will be accompanied by an armed escort of a number of returned American soldiers who have seen service on the battle front in France. At the majority of places where stops are made there will be special patriotic meetings arranged in the interest of the Victory Liberty Loan, and well known speakers will make addresses.

The new American battle tanks of the "Whippet" class, built on the model of the French Renault type, will not accompany the war exhibit train, but will make a separate tour, going overland from city to city. In this way the country districts through a great part of the state will have their first view of these modern engines of war which the United States was ready to produce in great numbers at the time the armistice was signed last November. The tour of the tanks through Indiana will not only give the Hoosier people a chance to see this latest development of the war, but the trip will be a thorough test of the machines themselves.

The war exhibit train will carry, in addition to the trophies of war captured from the Germans, many of the latest devices manufactured for the American army. These will include the most modern types of cannon and machine guns, and will be an example of what the government of this country was doing in the way of preparation for the overthrow of the German forces. Practically every instrument of warfare on exhibition was being produced in large numbers at the time the armistice was signed.

A. C. A. ENTERTAIN ON FRIDAY

There was a large attendance of college and high school seniors at the reception tendered them on Friday afternoon by the Greencastle branch of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. Mrs. E. B. Nichols spoke to the guests on the ideals and activities of the association since its foundation by Alice Freeman Palmer and a group of her friends. Miss Marjorie Dimmit, instructor in English at DePauw, who has been taking graduate work at Wellesley, spoke especially to the college seniors on the advantage of graduate work, advising complete change of locality as well as a difference in size and kind of college in order that breadth of experience might be added to the delight of specializing in one's chosen line of work. Miss Hazel Brown of the college seniors then spoke happily to the high school seniors of the advantages and the satisfaction of a college course.

The brief business meeting of the A. C. A. before the reception included a vote of thanks to the present officers—President, Miss Lillian Southard; vice president, Mrs. Wilbur Stewart; secretary and treasurer, Miss Sophia Steese; councillor, Miss Katherine Alvord for piloting the branch through a year beset with difficulties, and for next year the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. George R. Grose; vice president, Miss Sophia M. Steese; secretary and treasurer, Miss Frances Brian; councillor, Miss Katherine Alvord.

The D. A. R. will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Miss Wilhelmina Lank on East Anderson street.

RATE OF NEW LOAN WILL BE 4% PER CENT

Washington, April 13.—Terms of the Victory Liberty Loan were announced today by Secretary Glass. They are:

Amount $4,500,000,000, over subscriptions to be rejected. Interest, 4% per cent for partially tax exempt notes, convertible into 3% per cent notes wholly tax exempt. Maturity, four years, with the treasury reserving the privilege of redeeming the notes in three years.

The 3% per cent notes, to be issued later, also may be converted subsequently back into 4% per cent notes.

The 4% per cent securities are to be exempt from state and local taxation, excepting estate and inheritance taxes, and from normal rates of federal, state and local taxes except state and inheritance taxes.

The size of the loan was much smaller than had been anticipated by most financial observers, who looked for an issue of about $6,000,000,000, in view of Secretary Glass' past statements that the loan would be five or six billions.

This will be the last Liberty Loan, Secretary Glass explained, although there will be other issues of government securities to finance belated war expenses. These will not be floated by popular campaigns.

Other Bonds Not Accepted. None of the past issues of Liberty bonds are convertible into Victory Loan notes, and there are no specific provisions in the terms of the Victory issue serving directly to maintain market prices of past issues.

In many communities the selling campaign already has begun actively without formal acceptance of subscriptions, said reports today to the treasury, although the official opening date is April 21, one week from tomorrow. The drive will continue three weeks until May 10.

"In fixing the terms if the issue," said Secretary Glass's announcement of the Victory Loan, the treasury has been guided largely by the desire to devise a security which will not only prove attractive to the people of the country in the first instance, but the terms of which should insure a good market for the notes of the campaign is over and identical prices for the two series, and should not affect injuriously the market for the existing bonds of the Liberty Loans.

JACKIE BAND IN A CONCERT.

The Great Lakes bluejacket band, which arrived here at near noon Monday, gave a concert at 1:30 o'clock on the square. Quite a crowd was in town to hear the concert, which is given in connection with the Liberty Loan drive. The band left late Monday afternoon for Brazil, where it gave a concert Monday night.

Allen Lewis, a Montgomery county farmer, who has been keeping record on his flock of sheep for the last three years in co-operation with the extension department of Purdue University and the county agent has thirty-one lambs this year from eighteen ewes, having saved every one lamb.

ADOPTED BLOCK SYSTEM PLAN IN LOAN DRIVE

The block system method has been adopted for the sale of Victory Liberty Loan bonds in Greencastle city. This announcement was made Monday morning by City Chairman Chas. Barnaby, following a meeting of Liberty Loan workers held Sunday afternoon.

Frank Donner suggested the plan at the meeting Sunday and it was unanimously adopted.

Under the plan adopted, Charles Barnaby, city chairman, appointed a chairman for each city ward.

The ward chairmen are: First Ward—Ernest Stoner. Second Ward—Frank Donner. Third Ward—Charles Leuteke. Fourth Ward—Fred Hixon.

Each of these men will appoint block captains for each block in his ward. The block captains will be both men and women.

Then each block captain will have complete charge of the solicitation of subscriptions from every resident of that block. All subscriptions must be made through the block captain. No subscriptions shall be made excepting through the block captains, who will in turn report them to the ward captains and then to the city chairmen.

By this method the block is the unit and the solicitation will be absolutely complete. As only the block captains are authorized to receive subscriptions, and to receive them only from residents of their block, there will be no overlapping and a complete and early canvass will result.

A. A. Hauck is chairman of the township outside of Greencastle and will be in charge of the outside solicitation.

NEW ICE COMPANY COMING.

A lease was made last Friday by the Crystal Ice Company of their ice plant property to Monroe George & Company, of Indianapolis. It is understood that the Monroe George Company will begin immediately to place the machinery in shape to make ice for the town. As almost everyone knows the ice situation throughout the country is most critical and ice will be in great demand for the next several months. It is understood the new company will spend considerable money in additional improvements and increase the capacity of the plant.

SPENCER MAN IS AN AUTO VICTIM

O. W. Raikes, of Spencer, well known in southern Putnam county as a merchant and stock buyer, was probably fatally injured on Sunday when he backed his automobile onto a railroad track in Spencer. The machine was struck by a fast freight and demolished. Raikes was thrown free from the car, but was badly injured. He regained consciousness after several hours and his physicians have some hopes for saving his life. The machine which he was driving when struck was purchased only a few days ago from O'Daniel & Sherrill, Overland agents, of this city.

PUTNAM LAD WINS FIRST IN CONTEST

Carl O'Hair, representing Putnam county, and a senior student of the Greencastle high school, won the fifth district discussion contest held in the local high school auditorium Friday night. O'Hair will represent this district at the state contest at Bloomington, April 25. The subject was "Universal Training for Citizenship." Miss Bertha Briggs, of Vigo county and a member of the Garfield high school of Terre Haute, won second place, and third place was awarded Miss Rhoda Harvey, of Vermillion county and a student of the Cayuga high school.

A beautiful silver loving cup was presented O'Hair after the decision of the judges by Superintendent G. W. McReynolds, of the Clinton schools, who is district chairman of the discussion league for the fifth district. The rewarding of the cup makes the total of three cups won by the local high school within the last year. Allen Tilden, winner of the fifth district discussion contest, which was held at Rockville last year, received a cup; the second was secured by the school when the 1918 basket ball five won the Putnam county tournament held in Greencastle several weeks ago.

The three contestants who failed to place were Miss Edna Irwin of Bridgeton, William Evans of Brazil and Lee Shirley of Danville. The judges were Prof. C. H. Money, teacher of history in the manual training high school, Indianapolis; Prof. A. W. Youngblood, superintendent of the Sullivan schools, and Prof. E. Rice, teacher of history in Shortridge high school, Indianapolis.

The contest throughout showed hard work on the part of each contestant and all put forth a splendid personal view of the subject. Chairman G. W. McReynolds, in a brief talk before the contest, outlined the purposes of the discussion league and stated that he wished greater interest would be taken in this activity throughout the state. He stated that there will be thirteen representatives in the state contest.

Before the contest the winners of the Putnam county reading, voice and piano contests, a violin solo by Miss Wilma Hall of DePauw, and the local seventh grade chorus under the direction of Miss Catherine Allison gave a most delightful program.

DEAN ALVORD FAVORS SCHOLARSHIP HONORS

In discussing the question of awarding honors for scholarship, Dean Alvord stated that she is heartily in favor of the plan. While she does not believe that money rewards should be offered, she thinks that some form of recognition of scholarship during the four years would be very desirable. For instance a series of honors to be awarded at the end of the sophomore year to those who have shown marked ability in certain departments, and a similar recognition at the close of the fourth year for work in various lines would be appropriate. These would supplement the present Phi Beta Kappa honors.

Dean Alvord also said that she does not believe such a system to be inconsistent with the spirit of scholarship for which we are now working. She does not think, she said, that an offer of some reward would cheapen the scholarship in the eyes of the students but would rather be given as a token of appreciation and significant of the honor. But an offer of money as a reward, Dean Alvord said, would detract from the best spirits.

REV. JOHN CAVANAUGH LEAVES SCHOOL TO ENTER UPON OTHER WORK

Notre Dame, Ind., April 10.—The Very Rev. Dr. John A. Cavanaugh, president of the University of Notre Dame, has resigned. His action is to be effective after the general chapter meeting of the congregation of the Holy Cross, which will be held here in June.

Dr. Cavanaugh has been the head of the local Catholic institution of learning since June, 1905, and is recognized as one of the leading educators of the United States. According to an announcement at the university, presidents of the institution hereafter will hold office for periods of three years. Dr. Cavanaugh will, it is understood, take other work for the Catholic church.

RILEY PROGRAM GIVEN BY ENGLISH CLUB

The reading club composed of Miss Hays' students in English Composition held its semi-monthly meeting Wednesday evening in Daugherty Hall. A very interesting Riley program was given, consisting of readings by Misses Christine Wilson and Beatrice Cooper, and an open discussion of Riley's life and works. The program ended with a few songs given by a quartet composed of Curtis, St. Clair, Tuhey and Harlan. The next meeting of the club will be held Tuesday evening, April 22.

AN EPIDEMIC OF HOT BEDS.

The high school class in agriculture under the direction of Mr. Jones has been doing some interesting work in preparing and operating a hot bed for Mr. C. C. Hurst. Radishes planted there are now ready to use. Lettuce will be ready in a very few days and tomato, cabbage, celery and sley plants are well along. An epidemic of hot beds will probably break out in Greencastle next spring as a result.

Some of our up-to-date farmers are going to take advantage of the work the class is doing at the high school building. There is a rather limited time left for seed corn testing, but as far as possible this work will be done for any wishing it. Farmers who have not planted their oats should take advantage of the offer made some time ago to treat their seed oats for smut.

INDIANA'S NEWS MEN ATTEND BIG VICTORY RALLY

Chicago, April 12.—Indiana editors, along with those of other states in the seventh federal reserve district, heard inspirational talks last Friday on the Victory Loan. Prominent speakers, including Gen. Leonard Wood, declared it was a question of blood or bullion, and that the people of the United States have contracted a debt the final installment of which they must pay in the fifth loan.

The general meeting was held in the Auditorium Theater Friday afternoon. After an address of welcome by Mayor William Hale Thompson, James MacDougall, governor of the Seventh Federal Reserve Bank, introduced Ben F. McCutcheon, director of publicity for the district, who acted as Mr. MacDougall emphasized the necessity of obtaining the widest possible distribution of the new loan.

"The American people don't start things they can't finish," declared Mr. McCutcheon. He pointed out that the new loan is necessary to meet the costs contracted in the last months of the war.

Must Meet Victory Cost. "The Germans saw the uselessness of further contest when they perceived the endless men and supplies pouring into France," said General Wood. He declared that now it is the duty of Americans to meet the costs of victory.

Other speakers included Miss Grace Dickson, director of the women's section, and the Rev. George Stewart, III, Episcopal rector of Evanston, Ill., who was an army chaplain in France.

"The last loan thrust a big fist in the face of Germany which said 'Quit while the quitting is good,' and by our lavishness of outlay we saved the lives of 100,000 or 200,000 men," said the Rev. Stewart. Isn't that worth the effort we are called on to exert in this victory loan?"

Speakers at the Indiana group meeting included John T. McCutcheon of the Chicago Tribune, George I. Christie, assistant secretary of agriculture; Kin Hubbard of the Indianapolis News and S. J. Duncan Clark of the Chicago Evening Post.

BODY OF BEDFORD FLYER FOUND NEAR RIVER

Bedford, Ind., April 12.—A message to Mrs. Lucinda Pope of this city gave information that the body of her son, Lieut. Harley Pope, was found this morning in the Cape Fear river, near Fayetteville, N. C. The body was near the spot where the body of his observer, Sergt. Fleming were flying from Langley Field to Camp Jackson when their plane crashed into a tree and fell into the river.

FEED FOR BREEDING EWES

The Missouri Experiment Station publishes the results of experiments with ewes on different kinds of roughage, with and without grain. The trials including a study of the lambs from the ewes fed during pregnancy on the different rations. The ewes were two to four years old, Colorado, averaging 85 pounds, and all had good mouth and adders. The grain ration was the same in all trials—six parts shelled corn, three parts wheat bran and one part pea size linseed oil cake.

General Summary:

1. Clover hay and grain proved more efficient as a ration for breeding ewes than timothy hay and grain. The ewes fed timothy hay dropped five weak lambs and one dead. Ewes fed clover hay produced strong lambs and suckled them best.

2. Clover hay alone was sufficient to maintain pregnant breeding ewes up to lambing time. After lambing the addition of grain to the ration proved advisable.

3. Corn silage when fed with clover hay, with grain, and with both clover hay and grain, proved a slightly better roughage than corn stover fed with the same combination of grain and clover hay.

4. Moldy or extremely sour corn silage is a dangerous feed for sheep. Ewes were lost in this experiment in one week from accidentally feeding moldy silage.

5. A ration of corn silage, clover hay and grain proved to be the most efficient means of utilizing silage.

6. A ration of grain and corn stover gave very satisfactory results when sufficient and proper kinds of concentrates were used.

7. Corn stover, clover hay and grain proved to be the most satisfactory method of utilizing stover.

8. Corn silage and stover both proved to be better roughages than timothy hay when fed with grain.

To produce the best lambs the ewes should receive grain, silage, and clover hay, but ewes receiving grain and either silage or hay do very well. Corn stover can be used successfully in lamb production if the ewes receive the proper concentrates. Strong lambs can be produced by ewes receiving no grain but they do not gain so well after birth.

Vocational High Schools

Only a small percentage of our boys and girls complete a high school education and it is partly for this reason that many of us have favored, and continue to favor, courses of study in high schools that give one some specific knowledge of the work that will be undertaken out in the world. We favor agricultural courses in high schools for country boys and girls, and believe that students can get good mental training while learning something of practical value that will connect them up surely with their life work. The wide separation of manual and mental work has ceased to exist for the most part and the best opportunities lie before those who expect to do some physical labor while using well trained minds.

There is another side to the true vocational school that is less pleasing. Some boys and girls in every community should go to a college of the right sort and prepare to make the most of themselves. The high school whose course is devoted largely to so called practical subjects does not fit the student for entrance to college. The student does not get the training in liberal arts and science that admission to a high grade college rightfully requires. The ability of a good agricultural high school to fit a young man for farming easily turns one side from any thought of going to college. It is reasonable to believe that a farming community with a vocational high school in its midst will send fewer boys and girls to an institution for advanced training than would be the case if an old line academy were within reach of the community. The vocational school is needed and the interests of the mass of children are our chief interests. The number of such schools should be greatly increased, and yet this one serious fact is confronted and the remedy is not apparent.

CLOSE CALL FOR MERRYMAKERS

Incident Revives Talk About Dangerous Railroad Crossings.

Leslie, Mich.—There are three very dangerous railroad crossings in this village, points where all view of approaching trains is obstructed by buildings. Two persons have been killed and there have been frequent narrow escapes. The latest "close call" might have been a shocking affair.

Lee Rivard was driving a merry party to town Friday evening to attend doings at Odd Fellows' Hall. When near the railroad tracks on Mill street they were laughing and having a good time and forgot about the trains and tracks until one of them suddenly screamed, "The cars."

The horses were on the track and Rivard shouted to them. The horses jumped forward and the sleigh just cleared the track when the engine went whizzing by. Three of the occupants were thrown from the back of the sleigh, and the suction of the train almost pulled them under. Something should be done to safeguard these dangerous crossings.

CULL CLOSELY, BUT KEEP YEAR-LINGS

Should we work so hard every year to rear a nice flock of pullets, and then sell them after only one laying season, pertinently asks M. G. Feint in Farm and Home. My experience and observation most emphatically teach me the contrary. Some of the best producers of my flock of Buff Orpingtons are often three years old and I have kept extra good ones longer.

An acquaintance who has a farm flock of about 200 White Leghorns, has kept accurate records of his work for years. One interesting record in his book is of 209 pullets that he started the year with. At the end of the year he had 188 hens and $203 clear profit. He kept them another year and at the end he had 148 hens and $203 clear profit. The most interesting feature of the record was that the hens in their second year laid 463 eggs more than during the first year with the same feeding and general care.

Death Necessary to Sustain Life

Paradoxical as it may seem, death is necessary to sustain life. The complete dissolution and destruction of every living thing, both animal and vegetable is required to produce and maintain life. If it were not for this system of an all wise creator the earth would lose its fertility, becoming exhausted and sterile.

Everything now finds its way back to the earth and is broken down by bacteria, causing decay and conditions that make the material available again for the production of crops.

Bacteria are the connecting links between life and death, sustaining life by producing death.

B. P. Smoot, a lecturer for the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, summarizes the works of King, Hopkins, Hall and others on this subject as follows:

"A plant grows, dies and falls back to earth. It has taken food from the air and soil. This plant food is locked up in the cells of the plant. Before it can be used again in the cycle of life it must be set free, or changed to another form.

"The bacteria brings about this change. They attack the remains of the plant and break them down into their elemental parts so the plant food there may be used again to grow more corn, wheat, oats or other plants. They link the world of the dead to the world of the living. Without them continued life on earth would be impossible.

"Soon dead animals and plants would accumulate on the face of the earth. Soon all the available plant food would be locked up in their dead bodies. These bacteria are the scavengers of the world and upon them depends our welfare.—N. Y. Sun.

Destroy Borers By Worming.

There are various species of borers attacking fruit trees which may be very effectively searched for and destroyed during the fall, winter or spring. "Worming" for the peach borer should be begun in early fall and continued until the trees have all been gone over. This is done by cutting away the injured bark sufficiently to trace the burrow and then removing the borer with a knife or hooked wire. Previous to worming, the soil should be dug away from the base of the trees so that the castings exuding from the burrows may be seen and assist in the more ready location of the borers. Since many of the peach borers in the fall are yet quite small, very careful work will be necessary to destroy all of them. After the trees have been wormed once it is a good practice to go over them again. The earth should be drawn around the base of the tree before there is danger of freezing weather. The same plan should be followed in worming the trees in the spring, at which time it will be somewhat easier to detect the borers because of their increase in size. Throughout the central and eastern states apple trees should be regularly wormed in the spring and fall for the roundheaded apple-tree borer. This insect attacks the trees near the ground and its injury is indicated by brown patches under the bark and the castings which often accumulate in some quantity on the soil.

Planting Nuts

In planting walnuts, hickory nuts or acorns, the nuts should be kept moist from the time they are gathered until they germinate. If they are allowed to dry out their vitality is destroyed, says a writer in Farm and Home.

A good way to handle nuts intended for planting is to stratify them. This is done by alternately placing a layer of moist sand and a layer of nuts in a box, being careful that the nuts do not touch one another. The box can be kept in the cellar or buried in the ground as preferred. The following spring the nuts should be planted in the nursery row where the trees are to stand.

If apples are thoroughly cooled before storing they keep better if wrapped with oiled paper and put into tight boxes or barrels. A writer in Farm and Home says that if they are in storage when warm, tight boxes and wrapping make matters worse. Oil paper is better than wax paper, because if one apple rots it is less apt to injure others if wrapped with such paper.

Hollow decaying logs about the farm or decaying wood around the wood pile furnish a comfortable breeding place for cutworms. Clean up the woodpiles and save trouble next year.
